

GERMANS BREAK THROUGH OUTER RING OF ANTWERP FORTS

Courtrai and Ghent. This line is available for the relief of Brussels and Antwerp.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—President Poincaré, accompanied by Premier Clemenceau and Minister of War Alexandre Millerand, left the temporary capital of Bordeaux yesterday for the battle front. They travelled in an automobile and will be absent three or four days.

The President's departure was at once followed by rumors both here and in Bordeaux that the allies have gained a great victory, the news of which is withheld, and that M. Poincaré has gone to witness the final discomfiture of the Germans.

This was officially denied, and it was added that the President has no intention of offering advice as to the movements of the forces, as is the case with the Kaiser and possibly the Czar, but simply that he may personally congratulate the troops upon their part in the long and stubborn fighting.

GERMAN REPORT ON ALLIES' CAMPAIGN

Antwerp Forts Taken, Germans Say; Attack on City About to Begin

BERLIN, Oct. 5 [via wireless through Sayville, L. I., to the United Press].—Portugal is believed here to be about to take part in the war at the demand of Great Britain on the side of the allies. Advices here show that a number of British steamers have arrived at Lisbon and it is believed they are to transport Portuguese troops to the battle line in France where the allies are being hard pressed.

In addition, the Indian troops who landed at Marseilles have been rushed direct to the front, where the British were in need of reinforcements.

The British Government has been using all its influence to get Portuguese support and now that the allies are hard pressed it is believed British influence may succeed.

The rushing of Indian troops into action before they became acclimatized also shows how hard pressed the allies are.

It is reported that the Roumanian Crown Prince has strongly rebuked Russian sympathizers at Bucharest, insisting that Roumania continue neutral.

The Dutch Government is strengthening its forces along the frontier to disarm and intern Belgian troops who are expected to flee from the vicinity of Antwerp, according to an official statement here.

The War Office, discussing the Antwerp situation, says: Forts Hierre, Waelhem, Koningshoofd and the intermediate redoubts, with 30 guns, have been taken. This makes a breach in the outer ring and makes possible an attack on the inner ring of forts and the city itself, the War Office says.

The Germans are gaining in the fighting in France which involves the right wing of their army, according to the official statement issued to-day.

The flanking operations of the allies have been checked and at several points on the west the Germans have pierced the French columns and have driven them from their trenches.

The fighting continues with the utmost ferocity and both sides are losing heavily.

"According to a statement made by His Eminence, Cardinal Bettinger, the highest Roman Catholic authority in Bavaria, the statements appearing in English and American newspapers that priests have been shot and persecuted by German soldiers while attending the wounded in Belgium are to be considered as absolutely without foundation.

"It is also declared that the English newspaper correspondents overlook the fact that a large portion of the German army is Roman Catholic. A manifesto signed by Harnack, Bode, Behring, Hauptmann, Klingner, Gredemann, Reutgen, Fuld, Deissmann, Humperdinck, Liebermann, Mann, Läst, Thoma and Wundt and other prominent savants and artists indignantly protests against what is termed unceasing lies about the priests.

Prosperity Talks to Advertisers:

(No. 6) One of the large manufacturing publishers of the United States, located in the East, calls West, and West answers back, and the other day he had refused a splendid publishing proposition pertaining to the War because of being unable to manufacture the product; also, that a merchant had placed an order with him for 300,000 copies of a printed article, and he could only deliver him 100,000; this was but one of several such cases with this man. Yet someone who tries to move the stuff from West plant prints.

Does this look like hard times? No. The truth is, it is the stores, trying to make up with American color for Christmas what they will lose from abroad.

It takes home labor to do this, this means home wages, this means home money, this means the money stays at home, and keeps on going 'round and 'round.

This is simply descriptive of thousands of such cases in the United States. Everybody is getting into line to buy 'everybody else's' needs. Thus, prosperity, once started, keeps on its way.

When money is living money, living money is spending money; spending money buys goods.

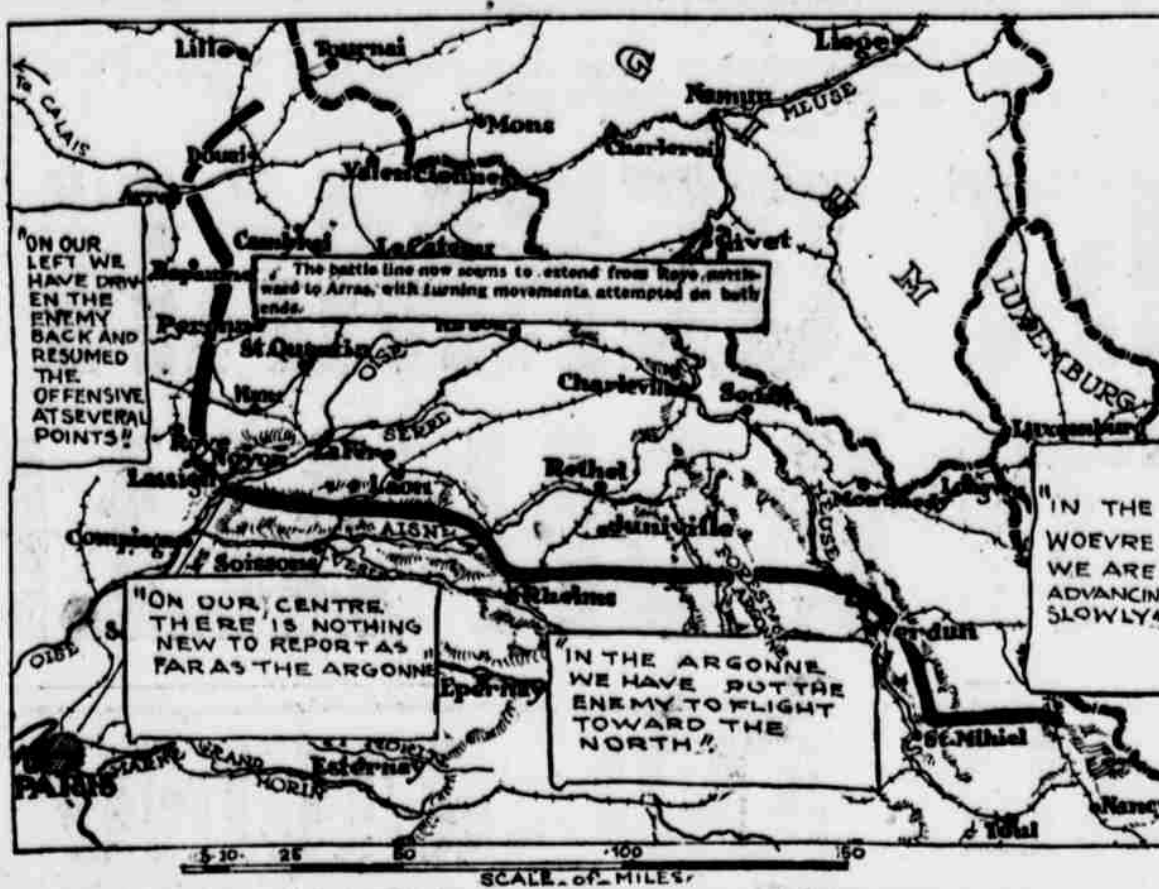

So that your goods get to the front.

BRITISH REPORT OF ALLIES' CAMPAIGN.

British Claim von Kluck's Position Is Dangerous for German Armies

LONDON, Oct. 5 [Associated Press].—The fact that fighting is in progress in and around the town of Douai, fifteen miles east-northeast of Arras, and midway between Arras and Valenciennes, on the railroad to Mons, where Gen. von Kluck has headquarters, is taken in London to show how surely the allies in Northern France have pushed the forward movement they hope will envelope Gen. von Kluck, the commander of the German right wing, in a net of steel.

Gen. von Kluck's position is as dangerous as it has been since the allies began their turning movement.

Apparently the intention now is to attempt something decisive against the German right wing, and if possible bring to an end this contest which for magnitude and stubbornness is without precedent in history.

At Soissons the German trenches already have been captured, but the Germans continue to fight fiercely and are still attacking at this point, as elsewhere along the entire line of battle, which their latest official report asserts is going in their favor just as confidently as Gen. Joffre maintains the contrary.

BRITISH REPORT ON BELGIUM CAMPAIGN

British Say Antwerp Must Fall Unless Allies Win Big Victory

LONDON, Oct. 5 [United Press].—That the Germans have made a breach in the southern outer chain of Antwerp defenses is believed certain here.

The Belgian declaration that "all of the forts are still intact" disregards, it is believed here, the St. Catherine-Wavre and Waelhem positions, on the extreme southern end of the line.

The fact that the Germans claim that these forts have been "smothered" and that the Belgians admit they have "been forced to withdraw north of the Nethe River," taken together, meant that, even though the forts still held out, they have been isolated.

But these are simply the outlying line, and their loss is not considered here as seriously menacing the safety of Antwerp. Nevertheless, there is a constantly growing belief that unless the siege can be lifted by the allies, co-operating with the Belgians, within a short time Antwerp must inevitably surrender.

The city's fortifications are of the same general character as were those of Liege and Namur. The Germans can be depended on not to make the mistake of trying to carry them by storm, but will reduce them with their big caterpillar siege guns.

Because this fact is realized by the General Staff of both England and France, the line of the allies is being constantly lengthened to the north.

Both British and French troops have been reported in force in the neighborhood of Ostend. They will probably be used in a further out-flanking position, which will have for its object the driving out of Brussels of the Germans and the relief of Antwerp.

Press despatches to-day tell of British heavy artillery posted inside Antwerp to aid in the defense. This is the first intimation that British troops were sent into Antwerp.

It proves, however, that the General Staff has taken over the direction of the Belgian campaign.

ANTWERP, Oct. 5 [United Press].—Despite the continued bombardment of the southern forts, the General Staff to-day, in an official statement, declared:

"The situation continues excellent. Every single fort in the defenses of Antwerp is in action. At no points have the Germans made gains. We can hold out indefinitely."

FOG PIERCING LIGHT REMOVES LONDON'S FEAR OF ZEPPELINS

Successful Experiments Are Watched by Crowds—Army of Aeroplanes Ready.

LONDON, Sept. 25 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Tests over London last night proved that searchlights can detect a Zeppelin even in foggy weather. Incidentally the populace derived great amusement from the experiments.

It was the foggy night of the month—not a thick pea soup fog such as November and December bring, but a very marked fog. The British airship which has been making experimental flights over London by day and night for the last fortnight made her appearance at dusk and sailed over the city for several hours. Searchlights were trained from several strategic points and they managed to follow her wherever she went. Much of the time there were two shafts playing upon the big brown sausage-shaped craft, and they kept her in sight when she dropped down near to the roofs of high buildings and followed her upward course and her sudden turns and windings. Many thousands of people were out in the streets gazing upon the spectacle.

It has been believed that the Zeppelins will choose a foggy day for a raid on London, if they attempt such a hazardous exploit, just as a British flying men selected a thick mist for their flights across Belgium into Germany when bombs were dropped on Dusseldorf and by mistake on Maastricht in Holland.

Every preparation has been made to give the Zeppelins a warm reception if they invade England. The London searchlights have swept the heavens constantly at night for the last fortnight. Aeroplanes, fully equipped for fighting, are kept in reserve and could be launched like fully armed engines on the stroke of the bell if an alarm of an approaching Zeppelin is sent out.

The cost of the precautions against Zeppelins is heavy, but it must be balanced by the economy in street lighting. Old residents say that London at night in these days reminds them of the old town before the advent of electricity, when a few lights struggled against the gloom. Certainly two-thirds of the electric lights in the most populated districts are out of commission.

ATTACKS PENROSE AT SENATE INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—A charge that $150,000 had been assessed upon manufacturers in Pittsburgh alone by the Pennsylvania Protective Union for use in nominating and electing Bols Penrose as United States Senator was made before the Senate Elections Committee this afternoon by Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, Penrose's Democratic opponent.

Palmer produced letters from the union, showing that it had been organized to promote Penrose's candidacy. He also gave the committee letters purporting to have come from the Pennsylvania Retail Liquor Dealers Association, sent to saloonkeepers urging support of Mr. Penrose.

Palmer declared that a Congressional investigation was warranted in the Pennsylvania situation; that both the State Corrupt Practices Act and the Federal law had been violated. Political committee, he said, had refused to make public their receipts and disbursements.

CZAR AND KAISER AT FRONT FOR GREAT RUSSIAN BATTLE

Biggest Conflict of Whole War Expected on Eastern Front—German-Austrian Campaign Depends on Issue at Cracow.

The heads of three great warring powers are now at the front. Czar Nicholas has taken command of his troops along the Niemen River. Kaiser Wilhelm commands the Germans in East Prussia. President Poincaré of France has gone to the front to congratulate his troops.

PETROGRAD, Sunday, Oct. 4, via London, Oct. 5 (Associated Press).—In Russian military circles it is felt that the Russian General Staff is now able to analyze and will be able to forestall the intended German invasion of Russia.

In spite of the great importance of the eight-day battle between Gen. Rennenkampf, on the Russian side, and Gen. von Hindenburg, on the German side, which has just come to an end and in which the Germans were not only successful in crossing the River Niemen, according to reports here, but were driven back with heavy losses to the frontier, losing the entire province of Suwalki, excepting the town of that name, it is the opinion of Russian observers that the Germans intended this costly and futile demonstration to draw the Russian troops from East Poland as a preliminary to their main object.

This, as revealed by the present fighting near Warsaw, was an attempt to take Warsaw and thence move to the southward to outflank the Russian army, which, having occupied Galicia, is now moving through Bukovina into Hungary. It is declared here that this intent has been made impossible by the bad conditions of the roads. The heavy German artillery sank into the roadways and could not go on. Nor has the German attempt to take the offensive at Cracow thus far been productive.

The reported presence of Emperor William in East Prussia and of Emperor Nicholas at the front is taken here to emphasize the tremendous importance of the impending battle, which may be the bloodiest conflict of the war, up to the present time, in either the western or eastern arenas. Three million men, it is estimated in Petrograd, will be engaged.

Russians believe that if the German-Austrian army is defeated at Cracow, the war will be virtually over. Granted this defeat, they declare there will then be insufficient forces left to stem the Russian invasion of Silesia and thence to Breslau and Berlin, as well as the Russian advances through Cracow to Vienna and through Transylvania to Budapest.

It was announced to-day from General Headquarters that the Czar had arrived at headquarters in the field.

LONDON, Oct. 5 (Associated Press).—Russian reports indicate that the German offensive toward the Niemen River from the East Prussian frontier ended in a rout of the Kaiser's forces after the battle of Augustow, which has been continuing since Sept. 25. If these reports are true, it means that not only has a opportunity been given Gen. Rennenkampf, in command of the Russian troops, to resume the offensive, but the important fortress of Ostrowitz has been relieved from investment.

A official message from the commandant of the German fortress at Konigsberg, however, directly op-

JAPANESE GUNS DISABLE GERMAN GUNBOAT ILTIS

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—The official report issued to-day covering the operations against Kiaschow declares that the allies continue to advance their lines in the face of determined opposition. Further details of Saturday night's attack by the Germans, when they attempted a sally against the Japanese position, show that they were defeated with a loss of forty-seven killed.

The German gunboat Ilitis attempted to reconnoiter the harbor and was attacked by Japanese cruiser which fired a number of shots from her heavy guns, badly damaging the boat. The Ilitis has a displacement of 880 tons and is 20 feet long.

It is reported that China has ordered her soldiers operating on the Shan-tung peninsula not to interfere with the Japanese military operations.

ASK $1,000,000 BECAUSE OF SEWER

Suits for amounts aggregating more than $1,000,000, chief among them that of George A. Carman for $100,000, have been brought against the city by some score of Jamaica Bay oystermen who contend that a ruling of the Board of Health, forbidding the sale of their oysters, has ruined their business. Carman's suit began to-day before Supreme Court Justice Maddox in Brooklyn.

Resident damages Carman asks an injunction restraining the city from using the Hendrix street sewer which empties into Jamaica Bay in the neighborhood of Canarsie. It is there that Carman has his oyster beds.

The city formerly maintained a sewage disposal plant there, which rendered the Hendrix street sewer harmless so far as water products of the neighborhood were concerned. This plant has been discontinued and the Health Board immediately condemned the oyster beds in the vicinity of the sewer.
